

Springfield, Mass.,
Jan. 27, 1917.

Dear Mr. Luper;

I am in receipt of your Script
Cut Catalog and the script cuts in it are certainly fine.

The criticisms were welcome and at your suggestion I am enclosing something in pure India for the Journal. Should it somehow escape the waste basket, it was my intention to have it reduced one third.

"Parental care" sounds good, but you will undoubtedly want to take it all back after glancing at the enclosed specimens.

Greetings to all the Zanerians.

Sincerely,

A. A. Arenius

Most policies in the Mass. Mutual are written in the above lettering. It is written quite rapidly, about half as fast as ordinary writing, the backhand being more rapid than the vertical.

For me, ^{the terms} finger movement on the one hand, and arm movement on the other hand, are both simple and expressive - much more so than forearm, muscular, or whole arm, and consequently more scientific from ~~either~~ the standpoints of common understanding, ^{terminology}, etymology, or anatomy.

If I have succeeded in making more clear the relationship existing between the members and movements employed in the act or art of writing, I have then accomplished my desire.

Arrangement in handwriting is more a matter of judgment than of technical skill. Style is but expression of individual taste, and taste is the result of inheritance, environment and education. Handwriting is an index of artistic judgment or indifference to orderliness in arrangement.

Dear Friends, Although mistake was made in filling my last order for stationery I send. I think my order was for 10 #2, and you sent 14 #1/2 and 20 #2. I am returning 10 #1/2 for which please send my 10 #2. The pens are for a friend and am anxious to have them right.

Handwritten musical notation in a cursive script, featuring various note values and rests, arranged in a single line.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a letter or document, written on aged paper. The text is written in a single column, flowing from top to bottom. The script is highly stylized and fluid, characteristic of the 'Kuzushiji' style. The paper shows signs of aging, including discoloration and faint smudges.

Handwritten musical notation on a single staff, featuring a series of stylized, flowing notes and rests, characteristic of early manuscript notation.

Gentlemen:

About three weeks ago I sent you a list of eight names for B. E. or Zaner Method certificates, and enclosed my check to cover cost.

Can you send them along soon now? The pupils are anxious to receive them.

Yours sincerely,

S. O. Smith

Friend James H. Flower:

I take pleasure in sending you herewith a small specimen of business writing. It is not very good but it is the best I can do today. Good if you wish but if there is time enough, I shall try to get out something better for you. If you can not make use of this one, it will be perfectly all right with me.

Very sincerely,

A. M. Bennett.

P.S. Take your choice of the three enclosed specimens.

Some easy business writing, such as is taught in the Zanerian College.
